A Boeing 787 Dreamliner takes off at San Jose International Airport.

NOT SO DREAMY

More problems for Boeing's new 787 Dreamliner

Reuters

TOKYO Japan Airlines said Sunday that a Boeing 787 Dreamliner jet undergoing checks in Tokyo following a fuel leak at Logan International Airport last week had leaked fuel during tests earlier in the day.

An open valve on the aircraft caused fuel to leak from a nozzle on the left wing, a company spokeswoman said. The jet is out of service after spilling about 40 gallons of fuel onto the airport taxiway in Boston due to a separate valve-related problem.

In Boston, a different valve on the plane opened, causing fuel to flow from the center tank to the left main tank. When that tank filled up, it overflowed into a surge tank and out through a vent. The spill happened as the plane was taxiing for takeoff on a Jan. 8 flight to Tokyo. It made the flight about four hours later.

Japan Airlines does not know the cause of either incident, the spokeswoman said. There is no timetable for the plane to return to service.

On Friday, the Federal Aviation Administration ordered a wide-ranging review of Boeing's 787 Dreamliner, citing concern over a battery that caught fire Jan. 7, also on a Japan Airlines plane in Boston, and other problems. The government and Boeing insisted the passenger jet remained safe to fly.

Japan Airlines' 787 plane encountered a fuel leak. REUTERS

The review follows a slew of incidents that have focused intense scrutiny on the new plane. While many of the issues that have dogged the 787 are typically considered routine, their occurrence in quick succession on an aircraft that incorporates major new technology and has not seen wide use yet has sparked concerns about safety.

The 787 represents the boldest bet Boeing has made on a new plane in more than a decade, and because the aircraft required billions to develop, much of the company's financial performance is riding on its success. Boeing is trying to double production to 10 jets a month this year to cash in on nearly 800 orders.

The eight airlines that operate the 50 jets delivered so far have expressed support for it, saying the mishaps are teething problems common with most new airplanes, and the 787's fuel savings make it an important addition to their fleets. Japan Airlines and local rival All Nippon Airways fly 24 Dreamliners.

No word on how long review would take

WASHINGTON/NEW YORK The U.S. government has ordered a wide-ranging review of Boeing's latest passenger jet, the 787 Dreamliner, citing concern over a fire and other recent problems but insisting the plane was still safe to fly.

It was unclear how long the review will take or how much it ultimately will cost Boeing, but the company was concerned enough that it sent a top executive to a Washington press conference on the problem.

The 787 represented a leap in the way planes are designed and built, but the project was plagued by cost overruns and years of delays. Some have suggested Boeing's rush to get planes built after those delays resulted in the recent problems, a charge the company strenuously denies.

Either way, regulators said a thorough examination was needed to identify the root cause of the problems, including a fire on a parked 787 on Monday.

"There are concerns about recent events involving the Boeing 787. That is why today we are conducting a comprehensive review," Transportation Secretary Ray LaHood said at a news conference.

Those concerns notwithstanding, though, LaHood also maintained the plane was still airworthy.

"I believe this plane is safe and I would have absolutely no reservations about boarding one of these planes and taking a flight," he said. REUTERS

Don't quit yet on resolutions

Ernest Wilkins

» erwilkins@tribune.com
» @ernestwilkins

How has the new year treated you so far? If you're anything like me, you've already lapsed on the "2013 is MY year, guuuu!" mentality you surged in with. It happens, but we'll be OK, folks! Let's work through this together and get back to our resolutions. Now, I know different people respond to different kinds of motivation. Sometimes you like it soft and sometimes you need tough love. Hell, sometimes it's both. That said, I've distilled my winning strategy into two motivational categories: nice and mean. Pick the one that applies to you.

MEAN

You ought to be damned ashamed of yourself. The year is only two weeks old and you already threw in the towel, you Patagonia-clad pile of weakness. Awful! I want to come to your house and smack you, your cat and your ugly roommate.

What, does repeating empty phrases to feel better about the fact that you don't take responsibility for your own happiness get you off? I want to make a time machine for the sole purpose of going back in time to kick your grandpa in the mouth.

Here's how to beat 2013: Set ONE goal. One. Want to read a book that wasn't made for the purpose of titillating cougars? Set a specific date and head to the bookstore. Want to decrease the size of those two hams in your jeans? Write "I will decrease the size of my wagon by walking for 20 minutes four times a week because I'm one step removed from being 30 percent mashed potato."

NICE

Life can be tough, right? After a hard day, have you ever just broken down and had a soft cry? I have. The gentle tears roll down your cheeks like wet boulders of frustration!

I want you to know that the key to being a better you this year comes down to one thing: metaphors. Embrace your goals with the passion of a dog chewing peanut butter. Dance like no one is watching. Sing like no one has ears. Live like you were dying before you were even born. Problems can surface when we get overzealous. Have you ever seen a baby throw a ball? It's the most beautiful thing ever. It takes time to build a habit that makes you better.

Do you want to shed some pounds? Get a fitness plan and make it make you happy. Release your inner champion and visualize your way to a greater plateau. Remember: You're already halfway to the best you that will ever exist.

ERNEST WILKINS IS CHICAGO'S SWINGMAN.

Could One Hour With This Doctor Give You The Answer To Your Disc Pain?

Now, in Downtown Chicago, IL one doctor has what may be the most important breakthrough in non-surgical back pain treatments. Before and after MRI studies have shown disc bulges shrink in size – even with the most painful cases of L4-L5 herniations.

If you've had disc problems for years, recently injured your back, or you're suffering with sciatica, you must hear about these new studies.

Scientific studies tell us that spinal discs are responsible for most of the aches and pains people suffer from. Discs act like a cushion between our backbones and allow for a space at each level so the nerves can exit the spinal column.

When these discs get injured or wear out from bad posture, they begin to degenerate and cause pain. Bulging and herniations begin to form, pressing on the nerve roots. If the herniations occur at L4-L5, they can severely compromise the large sciatic nerve, causing muscle weakness, tingling, and severe pain.

The most common invasive treatment for disc herniations is surgery. This costs quite a bit of money. Even with health insurance the patient is left with their own portion of the bill, in excess of $10,000-$15,000, and sometimes more. The recovery time and missed work can be anywhere from 3 to 6 months, not to mention the obvious severe risks associated with all surgery.

But here's the biggest problem...there is a high failure rate of back surgery. One medical study found that on average, 53% of L5-S1 back surgeries fail to produce relief of symptoms (International Orthop 1987.)

Before You Go Under The Knife And Opt For Spinal Surgery...

You should seriously consider a less invasive approach called spinal decompression.

Non-surgical spinal decompression is a new technology that has been proven to reverse disc herniations. It creates a vacuum effect on the disc, which pulls the disc back into its normal position and brings in a fresh blood supply to promote healing.

Spinal decompression treatments are very gentle. In fact, every once in awhile I even catch a patient sleeping during sessions.

You'll simply lie on your stomach or back, whichever is comfortable, and then a specialized belt is gently put around your waist. We'll set the machine to focus on your problem area – then the advanced decompression computer system will do the rest. Most patients feel better with just a few treatments, and best of all there will be no dangerous drugs, no invasive procedures, and no painful exercises.

The Research Behind This Treatment

One clinical study has shown non-surgical spinal decompression to be extremely successful (good or excellent relief) in 86% of patients with herniated discs and degenerative joint disease – without the side effects.

Another study presented at the American Academy of Pain Management in 2007 showed...

"Patients reported a mean 88.9% improvement in back pain and better function...No patient required any invasive therapies (e.g. epidural injections, surgery)."

As you can see, spinal decompression has a high success rate with helping disc herniations, sciatica, and back pain. In just a matter of weeks you could be back on the golf course, enjoying your love life, or traveling again.

Here's What Our Patients Say...

"Before treatment on the Spinal Decompression Table I could not put very much weight on my left leg. I could not walk or stand for long periods of time and had tremendous pain in my lower back and down my left leg. Since having treatments the pain is gone! I can walk and put weight on my left leg. Would highly recommend and have told friends about my results."

Feel the Improvement – and Say "Yes" to Life Again

With my "Decompression Evaluation" we'll be able find the problem and then correct it. Think of how you'll feel in just a few short weeks. See and feel your life change for the better. Start your body on the way to pain-free, normal living. Feel tight joints rest, relax, free up. Feel muscles tied in knots become more supple. Feel strength in your muscles increase.

You're able to live life like a normal person again, without back pain – able to play with your kids, enjoy time with friends, and finally get a good night's rest.

FOR THOSE SUFFERING WITH HERNIATED LUMBAR DISCS, A NON-SURGICAL, DRUGLESS SOLUTION IS HELPING PATIENTS BE PAIN FREE.

The Single Most Important Solution To Your Sciatica and Back Pain

It's time for you to find out if spinal decompression will be your sciatic and back pain solution. For 10 days only, I'm running a very special offer where you can find out if you are a candidate for spinal decompression.

What does this offer include?

Everything I normally do in my new patient evaluation. Just call before January 28, 2013 and here's what you'll get...

- An in-depth consultation about your health and well-being where I will listen...really listen...to the details of your case.
- A complete neuromuscular examination.
- A full set of specialized x-rays to determine if a spinal problem is contributing to your pain or symptoms. These cost $125.
- A thorough analysis of your exam and x-ray findings so we can start mapping out your plan to being pain free.
- You'll get to see everything first hand and find out if this amazing treatment will be your pain solution, like it has been for so many other patients.

Until January 28, 2013 you can get everything I've listed here for only $19. The normal price for this type of evaluation including x-rays is $250, so you're saving $231 by taking me up on this offer.

Here's what to do now:

Due to the expected demand for this treatment, I suggest calling my office at once. The phone number is 312-212-1150.

Sincerely, Paul Ruzila, D.C.

Road to Washington

South Shore Drill Team gears up for inauguration

Chicago Tribune

At the end of an exhausting rehearsal, the young men plopped down on the floor and rested, their gym shoes kicked off to the side and their wooden rifles placed at their feet.

It had been a long evening for members of the South Shore Drill Team & Performing Arts Ensemble—four hours of counting steps in a new routine, twirling mock rifles and sabers into the air and catching them without missing a beat. The following evening, girls on the flag line would have their turn.

But for this energetic group of youths who brought first lady Michelle Obama to her feet with their soulful performance last summer, spending most evenings in high-energy rehearsals is a small price to pay for perfection, especially when the payoff is landing a spot in President Obama's inaugural parade.

competitions and performing at events as far away as Morocco, a trip to Washington might have seemed like just another chance for bragging rights. But no one had to explain to them what it means to be the only group from Illinois invited to march down Pennsylvania Avenue after the president is sworn in Jan. 21.

They got the message loud and clear.

"This is the president's hometown and we have to bring our A game," said 15-year-old Raeven Funnye, a 10th-grader at Gary Comer College Prep and a member of the flag team for five years. "Everybody is going to be watching us because we came from Chicago."

Getting ready for the parade, though, is only half the job. Since most of the youths on the team are from low-income families in impoverished neighborhoods, the biggest challenge is raising the $45,000 organizers said they need to cover the cost of the trip. They have come up with a little more than half, with the largest chunk—$10,000—donated by Walgreen Co.

The group has scheduled fundraisers, and parents also have been asked to donate $300.

Since former Chicago schoolteacher Arthur Robertson founded the private, nonprofit troupe in 1980 with a handful of neighborhood children, it has operated on donations. The group is now based at the Gary Comer Youth Center in Grand Crossing and includes more than 275 young people from the Chicago area. However, only 54 of the most experienced members will make the trip to Washington.

Cops find guns, drugs, abused dogs

Chicago Tribune

A 28-year-old man already out on bond for several weapons charges was ordered held again after a police search yielded unregistered guns, drugs, a large amount of cash and two badly mistreated pit bulls, officials said.

Acting on information that the man was mistreating animals, officers executed a search warrant at 11 a.m. Friday at his home in the 12800 block of South Green Street in West Pullman, the Chicago Police Department announced in a release.

Jarcivius Taylor was ordered held Saturday in lieu of $100,000 after 13 charges, including a felony weapons charge and six animal cruelty charges, were lodged, according to court records.

Judge Adam D. Bourgeois Jr. granted bond for Taylor, who has four pending weapons charges.

According to court records, Taylor is awaiting trial for two counts of aggravated unlawful use of a weapon and two counts of unlawful use of a weapon on a person after being arrested in September, records indicate.

EXPRESS LINES

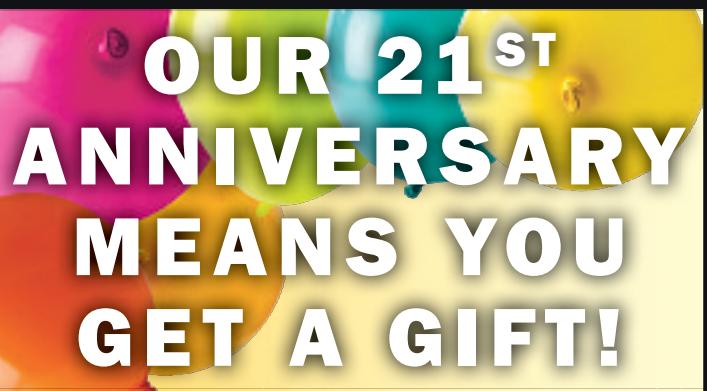

■ Two women were hospitalized Sunday afternoon after a fire broke out in an apartment on the Northwest Side, fire officials said. The fire was reported in the 1500 block of North Humboldt Boulevard.

■ Dozens of Illinois business leaders and several companies publicly endorsed gay marriage Sunday, a week after a proposed bill failed to get traction in Springfield.

■ A Lincoln Town Car crashed into the Lincoln Park Apple store Sunday, leaving one person with minor injuries.

■ All types of CTA passes go up in price Monday, and many regular riders will be doing the math to determine whether the pay-as-you-go fare or an unlimited-ride pass offers the better deal. TRIBUNE

Reddit co-developer commits suicide

NEW YORK Aaron Swartz, an Internet savant who at a young age shaped the online era by co-developing RSS and Reddit and later became a digital activist, has committed suicide.

Swartz's body was found Friday evening in Brooklyn, said Ellen Borakove, a spokeswoman with the New York Medical Examiner's office. The 26-year-old had hanged himself in his apartment.

His family and partner said they were "in shock, and have not yet come to terms with his passing."

A prodigy, Swartz was behind some of the Internet's defining moments, soaring to heights many developers only dream of. At the same time, he was plagued by legal problems arising from his aggressive activism, and he also was known to suffer depression, a personal matter that he publicly revealed on his blog.

Technology activist Cory Doctorow met Swartz when Swartz was 14 or 15, Doctorow said on his blog.

"In so many ways, he was an adult, even then, with a kind of intense, fast intellect that really made me feel like he was part and parcel of the Internet society," Doctorow wrote.

At age 14, Swartz co-wrote the RSS specification.

He later was admitted to Stanford University, but dropped out after a year because, as he wrote in a blog post, "I didn't find it a very intellectual atmosphere, since most of the other kids seemed profoundly unconcerned with their studies."

What he did next was help develop Reddit, the social news website that was bought by heavyweight publisher Conde Nast in 2006.

NRA boss not worried about gun control

NRA President David Keene expressed confidence Sunday that the current Congress will not pass a new ban on assault weapons, a major aim of gun-control proponents in the wake of last month's killing of 20 schoolchildren in Connecticut.

NHL's back just in time ... for Whizzer to lay it all out for you

Normally this is where I'd be licking
my wounds from a rough weekend picking the NFL playoffs.

(I nailed Sunday's games but whiffed on Saturday's, if you're keeping track.)
But there's no time for that, not with the Blackhawks schedule having been released this weekend. Here's how this season will go for Coach Q and the boys.

By the time this regular season is over, even the fans will be aching. Luckily for Hawks die-hards, it will be mostly from so many high-fives in such a short period. The Hawks will finish second to St. Louis in the Central Division and earn the No. 4 seed in the playoffs, and I'll be back with those predictions in a few short months.

Hawks (almost) back to full strength

Chicago Tribune

The Blackhawks hit the ground running at an abbreviated training camp Sunday after the NHL lockout officially ended late Saturday. Camp will run five days before the Hawks travel to Los Angeles to face the defending Stanley Cup champion Kings on Saturday.

"Guys were flying," captain Jonathan Toews said. "We're excited. We're looking forward to a long week of work to get ready for that first game. You can get in as good as shape as you want, but it doesn't mean the games and amount of games is going to become easier. We know we're going to have to work hard day in and day out to get what we want, and that's wins early on."

The Hawks recalled forwards Brandon Bollig, Marcus Kruger, Brandon Pirri, Brandon Saad and Andrew Shaw and defensemen Nick Leddy and Ryan Stanton from the Rockford IceHogs of the American Hockey League to add to the roster.

Defenseman Steve Montador was not on the ice for the Hawks and is sidelined with concussion-like symptoms, according to a source.

1 Lance Briggs just appeared on "Happy Endings." Who's the next Bear to get an acting gig?

Jay Cutler, "The Young and the Restless."

Phil Emery, in the reboot of "A Very Long Engagement."

Jay Cutler will appear in the next Muppet Movie as their newest character, "Grumpy Puss."

Kellen Davis on ABC's "Wipeout." No acting required, just falling.

"House Hunters" with Lovie Smith.

2 Why is Brian Kelly staying at Notre Dame?

Because he'd rot in hell if he left (Philly/hell, same thing).

Because Cleveland can never have anything nice. See: Cleveland.

There's no impending investigation of his program by the NCAA, so why not?

Tough to leave the sun, fun and excitement of South Bend, Ind. Amiright?

Do you remember former Eagles coach Rich Kotite? Exactly. That's why.

3 Five days until the Hawks start the season. How are you preparing?

I bumped my neighbor, pulled his shirt over his head and punched him in the breadbasket.

Warming up all my best "dumping" the puck jokes!

Trying to get over my anger at the NHL for making me suffer another lockout. Not there yet.

I hired Jim Cornelison to wake me up every morning with a rousing rendition of the national anthem.

My friend Sammy is helping me design a Blackhawks Pinterest page.

4 What does Kirk Hinrich think when he plays against his old team in Atlanta?

"I left Hotlanta to play with Derrick Rose. Derrick, where are you? Derrick? Hello? Yello?"

Same thing I would: "Man, do I miss Waffle House."

Same thing I do whenever I see an ex: "We weren't THAT bad together, were we?"

"I'm playing! I'm playing! I can't believe I—ahhhh my hamstring/arm/shoulder/knee."

"Can't wait to see NeNe and discuss why she's marrying her ex-husband. That girl is cray."

5 If Denver ends up hosting a Super Bowl...

... look for Mile High clubs to pop up all over!

... then that episode of "South Park" will be a must-watch.

... Rahm Emanuel is gonna eat his cigar.

... coaches will need to teach their teams how to defend against the "puff-puff-pass."

... when it comes to tailgating, count me out for the Rocky Mountain oysters.

'Law and Order' for Tyson

Former heavyweight champ Mike Tyson, who has made several guest appearances in TV and film as himself, will make his acting debut in an upcoming episode of "Law and Order: SVU," deadline.com reports. Tyson will play a murderer on death row. His show "Mike Tyson: Undisputed Truth" will be at the Cadillac Palace Theatre from Feb. 15-17.

THE MOUTHWATCH

[Lance Briggs is] the name on my state ID. I don't drive. It's too dangerous."

—Lance Briggs, on Sunday's episode of "Happy Endings." It's good to see the Bears linebacker has a sense of humor regarding his infamous Lamborghini accident.

Lance is still dancing

Monday's the day Lance Armstrong is set to go face to face with Oprah Winfrey. "I'm calm, I'm at ease and ready to speak candidly," he told The Associated Press on Sunday. "I hope we'll talk for a couple of hours." If a doping confession doesn't come out of that discussion, there are going to be a lot of disappointed viewers.

Spit happens

According to reports, Houston defensive lineman J.J. Watt spit on the New England Patriots logo at midfield before Sunday's NFL playoff game in Foxboro, Mass. Of course, the Patriots got the last laugh with their 41-28 victory. Does that mean they get to spit in Watt's Gatorade?

GOLD MEDAL STYLE

WHO WINS THESE RED CARPET FASHION FACEOFFS?

By Dana Moran | REDEYE

On the red carpet, as during the awards ceremony, there must be winners and losers. While bouncing up and down with anticipation of the Fey/Poehler Extravaganza Cruise 2013 (aka the Golden Globes), we paired up some of the night's similar looks to see who rocked it better. DAMORAN@TRIBUNE.COM | @REDEYEDANA

HAIR

MEGAN FOX vs. CONNIE BRITTON

Winner: EVERYONE. This pose-off comes down to the basic battle between blond and brunette, and Megan and Connie are the two best representatives America could have hoped for. We're off to buy some better shampoo now.

GOLD AND WHITE

MICHELLE DOCKERY vs. JULIANNE HOUGH

Winner: MICHELLE. Her dress manages to be both vintage-y and modern while being perfectly fitted at the same time. We will say, however, that we adore that hairstyle on Julianne.

FISHTAIL DRESS
AMY ADAMS vs.
HAYDEN PANETIERE

Winner: HAYDEN. We maintain that fishtail dresses make you look like the feather duster from "Beauty and the Beast," but Hayden scores the edge for having great hair, and because the dress is not the exact same color as her body.

SHEER
vs. JENNIFER LOPEZ

Winner: JULIANNA. We did a naked super-gasp over both of these, but only Julianna's had us coming back going, "oh, she actually looks hot as hell." We would also like to take this opportunity to once again mention that Julianna's husband is a stone fox. Meanwhile, JLo looks insane/fierce, which is exactly how we like her.

Fey and Poehler ring in big wins for Dunham, Hathaway, Lawrence

SHOW PATROL

Curt Wagner

* cwgagner@tribune.com
* @showpatrol

Golden Globe Awards co-hosts Tina Fey and Amy Poehler opened Sunday's ceremony promising they wouldn't be as snarky as former host Ricky Gervais, but they managed to get off a few zingers. "Ricky Gervais could not be here tonight because he is no longer technically in show business," Fey said.

Gervais, James Cameron, Quentin Tarantino and James Franco took the sharpest arrows from the real-life besties, who kept the surprises coming by "ceremony bombing" throughout the show. When the nominees for best actress in a TV movie or miniseries were announced, for example, Poehler—in fake teeth and a red wig—was introduced as Darcy St. Fudge, star of "Dog President." (Fey appeared as Damian Francisco, the mustachioed actor in "Dog President.")

The Second City and "SNL" alums managed not to get swallowed up by the ceremony or overshadowed by boring speeches or bad presenters.

After a surprise appearance by former President Bill Clinton, who introduced Steven Spielberg's "Lincoln," the co-hosts stormed the stage.

"Wow! What an exciting special guest," Poehler said. "That was Hillary Clinton's husband."

"Bill Rodham Clinton!" Fey added.

Their banter hit another high point after they lost the Best Actress in a Comedy award to "Girls" star Lena Dunham. "30 Rock" star Fey and "Parks and Recreation" star Poehler appeared on stage, both sipping drinks.

"Well, the show is really taking a turn," Poehler said. "Everybody's getting a little loose now that we're all losers."

"Congratulations, Lena. I'm glad we got you through middle school. Middle school?" Fey said, referencing Dunham's speech. After claiming Glenn Close was drunk, she warned Taylor Swift, "You stay away from Michael J. Fox's son."

Zing! Here are more of the hosts' best lines from the opening:

Poehler, to Kathryn Bigelow, director of "Zero Dark Thirty": "I haven't really been following the controversy over 'Zero Dark Thirty,' but when it comes to torture, I trust the lady who spent three years married to James Cameron."

Fey, to Anne Hathaway on her performance in "Les Miserables": "I have not seen someone so totally alone and abandoned like that since you were on stage with James Franco at the Oscars."

Fey, to "Django Unchained" director/writer Quentin Tarantino: "Quentin Tarantino is here, the star of all my sexual nightmares."

Poehler, on Meryl Streep being absent from the ceremony: "She has the flu. And I hear she's amazing in it."

Seth MacFarlane, first-time host of the Feb. 24 Academy Awards on ABC, is going to have a difficult time topping these two.

'A Haunted House'

'Paranormal Activity' is funnier than this

FAST PAISED

Matt Pais

» mpais.tribune.com
» @mattpais

Imagine if the "Paranormal Activity" films still featured loud noises and mysteriously falling pots and pans—only this time, they also included Marlon Wayans being raped by a ghost. Wouldn't that be hilarious?

No, it would not. And "A Haunted House," starring and co-written by Wayans, doesn't so much skewer the popular "Paranormal" franchise as clone it into a comedy in which farting and the word "asstraphobic" pass as jokes. Presented as unexplainable found footage from Oct. 2012, the film observes Malcolm (Wayans) and his girlfriend, Keisha (Essence Atkins), whose house appears to be haunted after she moves in. At night, text on the screen tells us the date and the time, as if doing things exactly the same way that "Paranormal Activity" does—the film also includes the oscillating fan used to scary effect in "PA3"—will make "A Haunted House" ultra-perceptive.

! R A Haunted House

Other gags include a gay psychic (Nick Swardson) whose gayness is the big joke and a white couple that wants to have sex with Malcolm and Keisha. Only when the ghost seems to misspell "ghost" on a Ouija board does "A Haunted House" have fun with the ridiculous humorlessness with which these low-budget flicks approach the supernatural.

Malcolm defecating on his girlfriend's father's ashes and humping stuffed dogs? That's found footage that never should have been created in the first place.

ROMANCE PLANET

BY JENNIFER SHEPHERD | READ MORE AT LIPSTICKMYSTIC.COM

Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Someone could be disappointed in you as Mercury creates some melodrama. Your lover wants to tie you up and make you a sex slave, but you're chicken out.

Aquarius Jan. 20-Feb. 18

You're feeling restless, so find a way to get out of town. Mercury is filling you with a need to be around new people, fresh ideas and inspiring settings. Zoning out in front of the TV watching the Travel Channel doesn't count.

Pisces Feb. 19-March 20

Watch out—your partner could be in a prickly mood. The moon is warning you to be super kind, super sweet and super compassionate. With a little extra caution you should be able to avoid domestic Armageddon.

Aries March 21-April 19

A playful feeling is in the air, thanks to Mercury. You could decide to seduce someone you've just met simply because you can. Or you might come up with an inventive plan to try some new things with your honey in the bedroom.

Taurus April 20-May 20

You have a tendency to mother your lovers. The moon is reminding you that most people do not particularly want to be dating someone who acts like a parent.

Gemini May 21-June 21

You'll experience a sexual breakthrough, thanks to the sun. You'll figure out how to make your partner squeal with delight. Things are looking up.

Cancer June 22-July 22

With Venus opposite your sign, your romantic instincts are off. It's not the time to break up with your partner or ask that friend out on a date.

Leo July 23-Aug. 22

It's time to reflect upon your past romantic mistakes so you can avoid repeating them. As the sun moves opposite your sign, you'll be reminded of all the stupid, dangerous and slightly illegal things you've done in pursuit of love.

Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Someone might want you to try something or visit a new place, but you're dragging your heels. Mercury says stop being such a bore. You need to break out of your usual routine and adopt a spirit of romantic adventure.

Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23

A playful sun is turning you into the class clown. You'll crack jokes in the office, making it hard for anybody to get any work done. You'll entertain your friends. Meanwhile, your honey might not be so amused.

Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 21

Jupiter has you going back and forth about a relationship, wondering which path to take. There is evidence to suggest that staying where you are is OK, but there's also a legitimate amount of information that says you should run.

Sagittarius Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Don't go along with the gang, because group situations could be dangerous or slightly annoying. The moon is urging you to hang out on your own or just hook up with a close friend.

THIS WEEK

Former Cubs pitcher Kerry Wood will host his second annual Woody's Winter Warm-Up fundraiser Friday at Harry Caray's Tavern-Navy Pier. Billy Corgan is expected to attend the Wood Family Foundation benefit.

Who's that Lady?

Even a major Bulls star can't stand up to the Gaga

ABOUT LAST NIGHT

Luis Gomez

✉ lgomez@tribune.com
✉ aboutluisgomez

the most Twitter followers in the world and would overshadow just about anyone.

Gaga, who has seemed to avoid the city's club scene for the most part since boyfriend Taylor Kinney began filming "Chicago Fire" here last year for NBC, sat in a corner booth with Kinney in Paris Club's upstairs lounge. There were so many suit-wearing security guards surrounding their booth it was difficult to see the diminutive "Poker Face" singer. Gaga dined at RPM Italian afterward for the second time in as many months.

Pippen had his own set of security guards at the fundraiser (I counted three to four who escorted him to the bathroom each time). But, unlike Gaga, Pippen spent much of the night mingling and dancing. I saw the Bulls legend get down to everything from "Conga" by Miami Sound Machine to "Murder She Wrote" by Chaka Demus & Pliers.

(You might remember that Pippen famously had a dance-off with Michael Jordan at his 47th birthday in September at Sunda.)

"Transformers" director Michael Bay relaxed in a corner booth not far from Pippen after Bay's dinner at RPM Italian and visit to Public House. Earlier that day, Bay had lunch at Hub 51. Why was he here? It likely has to do with the next "Transformers," which Mark Wahlberg, the newest star of the franchise, told RedEye would film in Chicago this summer.

Getting together...

Someone went to Jared! Olivia Wilde and Jason Sudeikis are engaged, usmagazine.com reports. The two began dating a little more than a year ago, and Sudeikis reportedly popped the question just after the holidays. Both were previously married. "Thanks for all the sweet congratulatory love, friends!" Wilde tweeted Sunday.

...and breaking up?

Nothing is confirmed, but numerous celeb gossip sites reported over the weekend that Jennifer Lawrence and Nicholas Hoult have split after two years of dating. The news comes as a bit of a surprise. In an interview published two months ago in Elle, Lawrence said, "[My boyfriend] is honestly my best friend, and hopefully I'm his best friend too."

HOT DATE

JUNE 13, 2014

That's when "Jurassic Park IV" will be released in 3-D, 13 years after the release of "Jurassic Park III," deadline.com reports.

JT style

We've been waiting for it... and waiting for it... and waiting for it. So it was a nice treat when the "surprise" Justin Timberlake was counting down to on his website leaked late Sunday about an hour ahead of schedule. His gift to us: "Suit and Tie," a falsetto-and-horn-filled single featuring Jay-Z. The first of many in 2013, we hope.

Ex marks the spot

By the time the dust settled late last week, Britney Spears leaving "The X Factor" was small potatoes. Soon after, Brit announced that she and Jason Trawick mutually decided to end their engagement of a little more than a year. Spears said she will return to her music career: "It's time for me to get back in the studio," she announced Friday, according to people.com.
